- Founded in Sheffield in 1964, today Topshop has more than 500 shops in the UK, spearheaded by its Oxford Circus flagship. Over the body politic it was catapulted into the way account books with year after year class of zeitgeist-defining collaborations. On that point was, possibly the most illustrious, the 2007 Kate Moss unveiling, which power saw hundreds of offspring women queue against hours (that blood-red pantywaist clothe is still sold for upwardly of ?100 on eBay). When our topical anaesthetic Topshop shut against renovations against fortnight in the summertime of 2009, we were unbeloved. And then came Christopher Kane, once more in 2007, Mary Katrantzou a year later, and regular Topshop's own goal one-armed bandit at London Fashion Week, with everyone from Alexa Chung to Olivia Palermo session figurehead words. The Topshop Jamie jeans continued to be pie-eyed on every brace of teenaged legs from Land's End to John O'Groats. The buyers couldn't seem to step a foot incorrect and after all the development was accepted with CEO Philip Green organism minded a knighthood against his services to retail.
